Summer Chamber Music Camp

Since 1997, hundreds of young pianists, strings and woodwind players, ages 8-18, have participated in Chamber Music Central's Summer Festival chamber music camp experience. The excitement of being in a trio or quartet, with other kids who are playing at the same level, and creating performances that produce standing ovations from audiences keeps many students coming back year after year.

Professional, supportive and inspiring teachers help young players blossom and develop their skills and expressivity. Kids learn to work together, listen to each other, help each other and revel in the many-faceted stories the music tells — exciting their imaginations and enhancing the joy of their music making.

Besides coaching sessions, performances, master classes and theory, there is plenty of time for pizza parties, games and making new friends.

Two sessions are offered at The Unquowa School located at 981 Stratfield Rd. in Fairfield:

Session 1: July 9-20

Session 2: July 30-August 10

Monday-Friday, 9:45 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

What You Need To Know: Placement auditions are held in Westport in March and April. Tuition is $800 per session or $1,500 for both. There is a $100 discount for siblings. Scholarships are available based on need. Fall and Spring semesters are also offered.
