Mad Science, a science franchise, is high energy, exciting, interactive science delivered to your location. Mad Science emphasizes the FUN in science, whether it's in making a human electrical chain, walking through clouds of gas, or training to become a secret agent! Your children will squeal with delight when they make their own slime or silly putty. There are several party themes to choose from, and extras include a rocket launch, cotton candy and dry ice.

Parties are priced based on the final number of children attending the party (birthday child and siblings are free). All-inclusive options feature invitations, thank you notes and goody bags. The birthday child will receive a 2'x 3' Mad Science Poster, all of the guests will get to make their own Mad Science take-home.
